

PA and Instant Evaluation

All the great things might be missed out or forgotten during the year-end appraisals. Most of the great things that you did in the early months of a financial year are totally forgotten during the year-end.

To solve this, we have come up with 2 systems.

a) Instant Evaluation System:

Any great / bad / worst thing you do on any day will be appreciated or condemned instantly. You are right! It sounds more like Yellow & Red cards given in a Football match.

Core Team Members will be the referees. They will provide these cards through email. All these cards will be considered for your Year End appraisals, etc.

Please find the details about Instant Evaluation System below:

Employee Name	Month	Issued Date	Issuer's Name	Job Description	Card	Reviewer Comments

Instant Evaluation System
Cards	Very poor	Poor	Great
Colors	Red	Yellow	Green

b) Monthly Performance appraisal:

A performance appraisal is a structured evaluation process where your performance is assessed and given ratings based on your daily activities, aiming to enhance your future performance.

We gather input from individuals at all levels of the hierarchy, ensuring that everyone's feedback is considered equally, not just from top levels. This inclusive approach fosters professionalism, a healthy work culture, and alignment with company values.

During this process, you are expected to provide feedback on your team or project members, and they will also provide feedback on your performance. All the feedback will be compiled and forwarded to the appropriate authority for review. After a thorough evaluation, you will receive your performance appraisal rating via email.

If you have any disputes, you can raise concern and discuss with your reporting persons and take appropriate actions.

You can access your monthly appraisals through the "Performance Appraisals --> My Appraisals" tab on Hubble.

To provide reviews for your colleagues, navigate to the "Performance Appraisals --> Reviews" tab. On the "Review Performance Appraisals" page, you will see a list of colleagues for whom you can provide reviews. For each user, you will find two options: "Review" and "Skip."

Review: Selecting the review option will present you with a list of questions designed to gather your feedback on your colleague's performance. You will need to respond to each question and provide detailed comments at the end.

Skip: If you choose to skip the review, you must provide a reason for your decision. If the skip option is not available, you are required to complete the review.

The reviews are expected to be submitted within 5 working days of each month. Honest and professional assessments are crucial, as your feedback will be significant in your colleagues' monthly performance appraisals.
